SENATOR BRASHEAR: ...is between the employee for the local or regional carrier who would not be subject to having violated this law, and then you have his or her brother or sister, respectively, who works for a Class I railroad and they can violate this law, and it's by virtue of who they work for. Doesn't have anything to do with shorter, lighter, slower or longer, heavier, faster, it only has to do with whether they're working for a Class I railroad or whether they're working for one of the local or regional carriers. So I think we have time here. I think we need to examine these and some other...

SENATOR CUDABACK: Time.

SENATOR BRASHEAR: ...constitutional issues. Thank you.
